FEDERATION of AMERICAN SOCIETIES for EXPERIMENTAL BIOLOGY

Benefits for FASEB Society Scientists

The Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology is an organization of multiple member societies representing tens of thousands of life scientists.

Working closely with member societies, FASEB staff provide strategic intelligence on policy developments, conduct policy research, and engage government and media relations.

HOW FASEB HELPS YOU

In addition to the benefits you receive from being a member in your own professional society, you also receive a variety of important benefits through your society's membership in FASEB including:

- Access to FASEB's Legislative Action Center
- FASEB's Washington Update
- Subscription discounts for The FASEB Journal
- Members only online access to the FASEB Directory of Members
- CME at FASEB Summer Research Conferences and society meetings
- Career development resources
- Personal insurance programs
- Credit card and line of credit programs

To learn more about FASEB, visit www.faseb.org and go to "Information for Scientists" to download a brochure.

Call toll-free 800.43FASEB or email memberbenefits@faseb.org.

FASEB

Experimental Biology is an annual meeting comprised of nearly 13,000 scientists and exhibitors representing six sponsoring societies and 18 guest societies. General fields of study include anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, molecular biology, pathology, nutrition, pharmacology and immunology. EB 2010 is open to all members of the sponsoring and guest societies and nonmembers with interest in research and life sciences. The majority of scientists represent university and academic institutions as well as government agencies, nonprofit organizations and private corporations.

This multidisciplinary, scientific meeting features plenary and award lectures, pre-meeting workshops, oral and poster sessions, on-site career services and an exhibit floor with an array of equipment, supplies and publications required for research labs and experimental study.

EXPERIMENTAL BIOLOGY 2010 OFFERS:

- Access to 6 collective society meetings in one location with one registration fee
- More than 50 concurrent scientific sessions open to all attendees spanning the scientific disciplines of the sponsoring societies
- Over 400 exhibit booths representing nearly 300 companies
- 4 days of poster sessions with over 5,000 poster displays and author presentations
- Over 90 award programs, of more than $700,000, in travel funding opportunities and poster competitions (awards vary by society)
- Over 65 countries represented annually at the meeting creating a diverse audience
- CME credits available (ASIP sessions only)
- Extensive career development opportunities for students and postdoctoral fellows
- Same registration fees as 2009

Professor and Chair
Department of Pharmacology
Tulane University School of Medicine

Tulane University School of Medicine seeks candidates for the position of Professor and Chair, Department of Pharmacology. The Chair will report directly to the Dean of the School of Medicine, and oversee expansion of the department. The Chair will also lead its graduate and postdoctoral programs, including biochemistry, human genetics, pharmacology, physiology, structural and cellular biology and microbiology –immunology. Responsibilities include faculty recruitment and appointments; development of educational and research programs; fiscal planning and management; and short/long term strategic planning. More information about the department can be found at <http://tulane.edu/som/departments/pharmacology/>.

One of the nation's most recognized institutions for medical education, Tulane University School of Medicine is a vibrant center for education, research and clinical/ public service in partnership with Tulane Medical Center, Tulane University School of Public Health and Tropical Medicine and Tulane National Primate Research Center. Celebrating its 175th anniversary this year, Tulane School of Medicine is the 15th oldest medical school in the United States. The Department of Pharmacology has maintained a rich history of research and education, has a nationally recognized research program and is committed to providing high quality teaching at all levels.

The ideal candidate must be eligible for appointment as a tenured professor and will have a proven record of leadership skills, widely acknowledged scientific achievements, and excellent administrative and teaching skills. Candidates should be able to establish and maintain strong partnerships throughout Tulane University and the New Orleans community. An interest in interdisciplinary research programs is advantageous. The search committee will accept nominations and applications until the position is filled. Nominations should include a brief statement of the attributes and qualities of the individual that make him or her ideally suited for this position, a curriculum vitae, and the names, addresses and telephone numbers of three references. In addition to a curriculum vitae, applicants should include a letter describing their research, teaching, service and administrative experience, and contact information of three references. Nominations and/or applications should be mailed to Patrice Delafontaine, M.D., Chief, Section of Cardiology and Director, Tulane University Heart and Vascular Institute, Tulane University School of Medicine, 1430 Tulane Avenue, New Orleans, LA 70112.

Tulane University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.
